Prayer and Reflection

October Week 2

Knowing Jesus changes how you see yourself. For each scenario below, circle the way you should see yourself (the way God sees you)!

I did badly for an exam or test.

I am not smart enough. I am lousy.

I will keep working hard. God can give me wisdom.

I messed up in a sports match or music/dance/drama performance.

I am clumsy and embarrassing. I am a failure.

I will be brave and try again. God can give me courage.

I got scolded by a teacher or parent.

I am worthless. Everyone hates me.

I am still loved. I am a precious child of God.

I don't like how I look. People make fun of me.

I am ugly. I can never look good.

I am wonderfully created and designed by God. I am made in the image of God.

My friends hung out but did not ask me along.

No one loves me. I am lonely.

Jesus is always with me. I am never alone.

Your mistakes do not determine who you are. What people say does not change who you are either. Start seeing yourself the way God sees you! That's the truth!

Heavenly Father, thank You that You see all of us—even our mistakes and mess-ups—and yet You love us completely. Teach us to see ourselves the way You see us, to love and accept ourselves as You do. In Jesus' name we pray, Amen.
